

A Network Theatre Company production

at Network Theatre, Lower Road

Time for Love: 21-24 April 2010

by Rosie de Vekey / directed by Rosie de Vekey

Performances: 21/04/2010 - 24/04/2010

Reading: 21/01/2010 18:30

Audition: 26/01/2010 18:30

Audition: 28/01/2010 18:30

Right time, wrong man?

Right man, wrong time?

Dating gets a lots more complicated when you have a time machine!

Alison and Bernard embark on an adventure through history, meeting Vikings, Monarchs, Artists and Gangsters.
But will they find time for love...?

Dull but brilliant Bernard almost accidentally invents a time machine and embarks on a dangerous and thrilling jaunt through history. However, he had not banked on opening up a whole new world to girlfriend Alison: will she now be lured away by the athletic attractions of a Viking, the all round charms of Henry VIII, or the well-crafted lines of Confucius?

Loveable cockney Mary and dashing Doctor Andrews join the adventure as they lurch from Saxon England to Renaissance Italy and discover if Mr Kipling did really start the French Revolution!

New work from Rosie de Vekey, part of the Network new work programme.

As seen in the Southwark News and supported by Green & Blacks organic chocolate.

See the Time for Love Trailer from Adam Simcox on Vimeo.

More information:

- Poster
- Flyer
- May 2010 Newsletter review